Everyone knows the globe is round but a room's world will revolve around the oh-so-square Otto table lamp once it hits the scene. The intermingling of antique brass and oil-rubbed bronze finishes on the metal lamp make this a study in clean-lined virtuosity, particularly given the edged metal shade is just as chic as the rest of the linear composition. Place the Otto, which stands 30.75" tall, in a home office or in a library to bring geometric intelligence to the space.
