Safety Guidelines

Vestil diligently strives to identify foreseeable hazards associated with the use of its products. However, material handling is inherently dangerous and no manual can address every conceivable risk. The end-user ultimately is responsible for exercising sound judgment at all times.

If this product is used improperly or carelessly, the operator and/or bystanders might sustain serious personal injuries or could even be killed. To reduce the likelihood of injury:

- Failure to read and understand the entire manual before assembling, installing, using or servicing the product is a misuse of the product.
- DO not lean against the barrier straps. The barrier system is not anchored to the floor. Applying weight to a strap will cause barrier posts to fall.
- DO NOT modify the product in any way UNLESS you first obtain written approval from Vestil. Unauthorized modifications automatically void the Limited Warranty and might make the product unsafe to use.
- Inspect the product before each use. Confirm that all straps extend and retract smoothly. Straps should also securely attach to receivers on adjacent posts.
- DO NOT use this device UNLESS all product labels (see "Label Placement Diagram") are readable and undamaged.

Proper use, maintenance, and storage are essential for this product to function properly.

- Always use this product in accordance with the instructions in this manual.
- Keep the product clean & dry.

Wall mounted end pull receiver

Installing wall-mounted units (WEB-W and WEB-W-15)

There are 4 bolt/screw holes in the mounting plate (1). Your building engineer should select 1/8" hardware of appropriate length to fasten the mounting plate to a surface.

Using the barrier system

Enclose an area with the barrier system by setting WEB-P units around the perimeter of the selected area. Extend the strap by pulling the end pull assembly (7). Attach the strap to an adjacent barrier by sliding the slotted opening over a receiver on the adjacent barrier. Straps from wall-mounted units (WEB-W and WEB-W-15) attach in the same manner.
