

HOW TO MEASURE A PILLOW

We measure our pillows prior to stuffing from seam to seam. This means the pillow appears to lose approximately 1", but the physical measurement from seam to seam using a seamstress (or other highly flexible) tape measure still remains the same when measured across the girth.

The most accurate way to measure a cover you currently have is to

- remove the cover (if removable)
- turn the cover inside out
- measure from seam to seam (as shown below)
