STEP 22

Pressing down firmly at the center point is the most suitable

It is recommended to have two people for the installation: one to install the air pressure rod nut, and the other to lift the bed frame to prevent it from toppling over

Warm Reminder: The remaining screws in the gas lift are replacement parts and serve no practical purpose for this installation.

Before lifting for installation, confirm whether the screws from the previous steps are 100% tightened.

This screw has been removed before pre-assembly. Please ensure to install

Note: When installing the hydraulic rod, ensure the screw holes on both ends are aligned. If they are not aligned, please adjust them accordingly during installation.
