

EVAN TAYLOR

Art has always come naturally for Evan Taylor, whose father was an artist. He was introduced to RFA Decor by fellow artist Robert Robinson, who met Taylor when he was traveling through Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in a camper. Taylor continues to live off the grid and is currently located somewhere between Tucson, Arizona, and Los Angeles, California. An anti-establishment punk rocker, Taylor prefers to maintain his mystique, letting his artwork speak for itself. Minimalist but complex in style, his art is done on a small scale on the dining room table of his camper. Most of his works are 22 x 30 inches, but occasionally he surprises with a large work, so as not to be categorized or “pinned down.”
