Normal Weathering is defined as exposure to ultraviolet sun light and extremes of weather and atmosphere, which will cause any colored or painted surface to fade, darken, chalk or acquire a surface accumulation of dirt or stains. The severity of these conditions depends on air quality, the geographic location of the property and other local conditions over which has no control. We shall determine, at its discretion, whether the siding is suffering from normal weathering (which is not covered by warranty). This conclusion shall be based on whether the product(s) evidences a change in color in excess of the Hunter Units as calculated, as outlined in the chart herein. Product(s) must have been exposed to the same weathering conditions and not partially covered by other materials such as shutters, awnings, porticos or other materials.

Architectural Grade PVC products require painting. For best results, prime the product thoroughly to achieve a smooth, consistent, paint-ready surface. The carved areas may require additional prime coats. Once priming is finished, paint the product with a good quality, vinyl safe 100% acrylic latex paint. If painting the product a dark color, colors that have an LVR rating of 54 or lower, use paints with heat reflective characteristics specifically formulated for use on vinyl or PVC products. For dark colors, consultation with your local paint company is highly recommended.
