

MONOLITH

FLASH CARD

WOUD

MONOLITH INCENSE HOLDER

FLASH CARD

Designer: Oleg Pugachev

Awards: WOOD's HIDN Design Award

Country: Germany, originally from Russia

Education: Product design from Weissensee Academy of Art, Berlin

Launched in 2023

Inspired by

- The HIDN Design concept, focusing on precycling, material and process optimisation
- The flourishing lifestyle trend of personal well-being
- The capabilities of the marble material and shape

Design

- Harmonious fusion of form and functional prowess
- Clean and precise geometry

Ideal for

- Bathrooms and bedrooms
- On top of small side tables and windowsills
- Relaxation and reflection

Features

- Made of one solid marble block
- Three holes (different sizes) accommodating different types of incense sticks (e.g. Indian and Japanese)
- Five incense sticks with the scent of sandalwood included

Product text

Made from a solid, rectangular block of marble, the Monolith incense holder embraces contemplation and while-being while embodying production and material optimisation. The cylindrical holder is cut out of the block, leaving a hollow centre to place the piece vertically.

Clever use of counterweight and friction holds the incense sticks at the perfect angle while the plate provides a platform for burning incense cones or a piece of lava rock, which serves as an essential oil diffuser.

