Individual springs for tailored support

The Jay-Be Truecore 1000 Pocket Sprung Mattress offers full-body support through a high-density core of 1000 individually pocketed springs. Each spring responds independently to your body's natural shape, providing personalised support, pressure relief, and reduced motion transfer between sleep partners. Deep, breathable comfort layers offer plush cushioning while encouraging airflow and moisture evaporation, helping to regulate temperature throughout the night and create a fresher, more comfortable sleep experience.
