

NEUSHOORN WALL SCONCE

Inspired by the rhinoceros, this sculptural sconce features a shield-like silhouette that feels both protective and architectural. Clean lines and softly curved edges give the form a grounded presence, while the layered construction creates depth and visual interest on the wall. When illuminated, light washes gently around the shield shape, highlighting its bold profile without overpowering the space. Striking yet restrained, this sconce balances strength and refinement, making it a distinctive statement in both modern and transitional interiors.
