Contract Recommendations: Adding a lacquer coating provides additional protection

Inspired by the rigid geometric style that is a prominent element in Brutalist architecture this seemingly simple accent table possesses details that make it complex. A mango wood top has been chiseled by hand showcasing carved details that have been softened by a black wax finish. It is perfectly poised on a hammered iron base which lends a textural element to the intense angles that define its form. It's scaled to fit in a variety of spaces. finish will vary.
