METHODS OF CARE

1. Avoid placing the sofa in direct sunlight above 30°C. Every 10-15 days, use a vacuum cleaner to remove dust etc. and clean the entire sofa.
2. Remove stains as soon as they are stained and avoid scratching or other damaging treatments, thus permanently maintaining the quality of the fabric surface. The surface of the sofa can be covered with a tight-fitting protective cover. When stained with ink-like stains, wipe with a soft white cloth or absorbent paper.
3. If a solvent is to be used to remove a stain, avoid applying it directly to the stain, but pour it onto a clean cloth first and then try to clean the hidden areas on the back. The stain should be wiped in a circular motion from the outside in until it is completely removed. Immediately after wiping, a low-power hair dryer should be used to dry the clean area from the outside in.
4. Be gentle and careful when wiping stains and spots, do not use excessive force. The massage sofa can be covered with a removable, tight-fitting protective cover.
5. If you have covered the sofa with a tight-fitting protective cover, please follow the instructions listed on the cover and clean it with a cleaner that does not contain bleach or oxidizing agents. Otherwise the texture and color of the fabric will change.

6. Vacuum regularly:

Vacuum once a week, paying special attention to removing dust between fabric folds. If there are stains, wipe with a dampened clean cloth to avoid leaving traces, preferably from the edge of the stain.

7. How to clean effectively:

Generally speaking, a soft cotton cloth can be moistened with a 1:10 soap flake solution or 1:20 advanced shampoo, wrung out and gently wiped the stained area. If the stain is too heavy, repeat the process a few times and the stain will be removed. Don't use too much force or the fabric will fade.

8. How to remove stubborn stains:

If the sofa is stuck with chewing and other gelatinous substances, use an ice pack or ice water to cool it down, and then gently wipe it off with a fine silk cloth.
