

SEREN DINING TABLE

The collaboration of geometry, stone and gray finished wood creates an ultra-modern look. The tabletop is made of lava stone, an alternative to concrete that is lighter in weight. Featuring a lightly embossed texture and deep, geometric etchings around the rim, the top is finished in dark ash. The faceted base has grain textures, accentuated due to a sandblasted finishing process that has over 500 years of history. Built for dining, this table would also be perfectly sized for a grand entryway.
