Maintenance

1. Always protect furniture with outdoor covers — you never know when a summer storm can hit! It's best to make sure the furniture is as dry as possible before putting covers on or storing long term, so residual moisture doesn't mildew. We suggest putting covers on whenever you go out of town and during the off-season, too.
2. Use a soft bristle brush to keep dust and dirt off your wicker furniture.
3. Clean the product with a damp cloth.
4. Don't power wash your wicker furniture — like abrasive cleaners, they can wear finishes and coloring down.
5. Check all components and bolts to be secured regularly.
