

THE RHUM

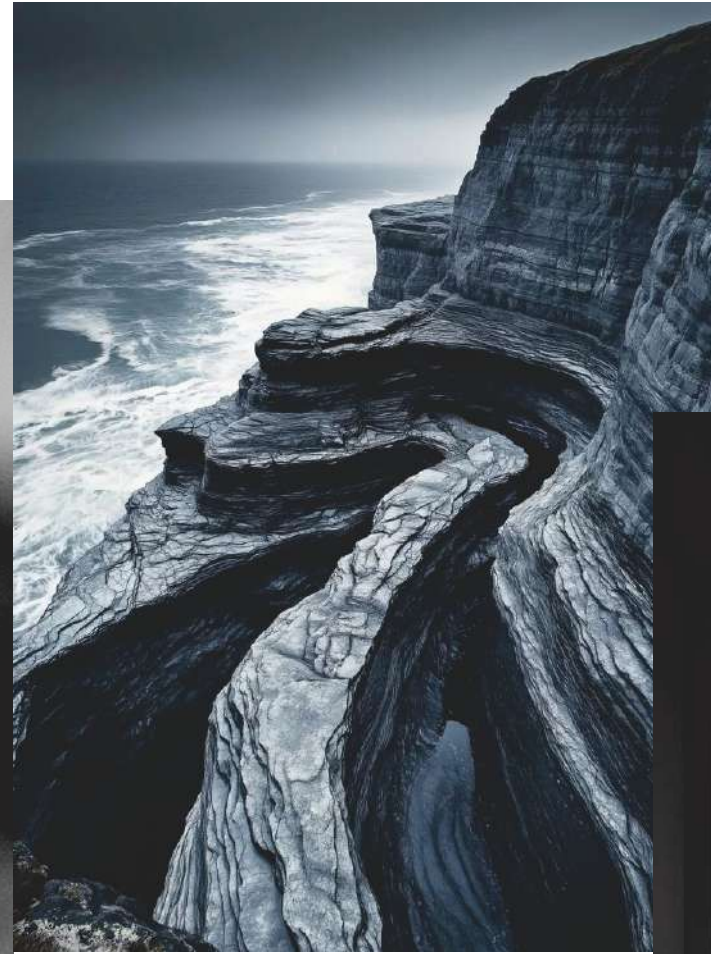

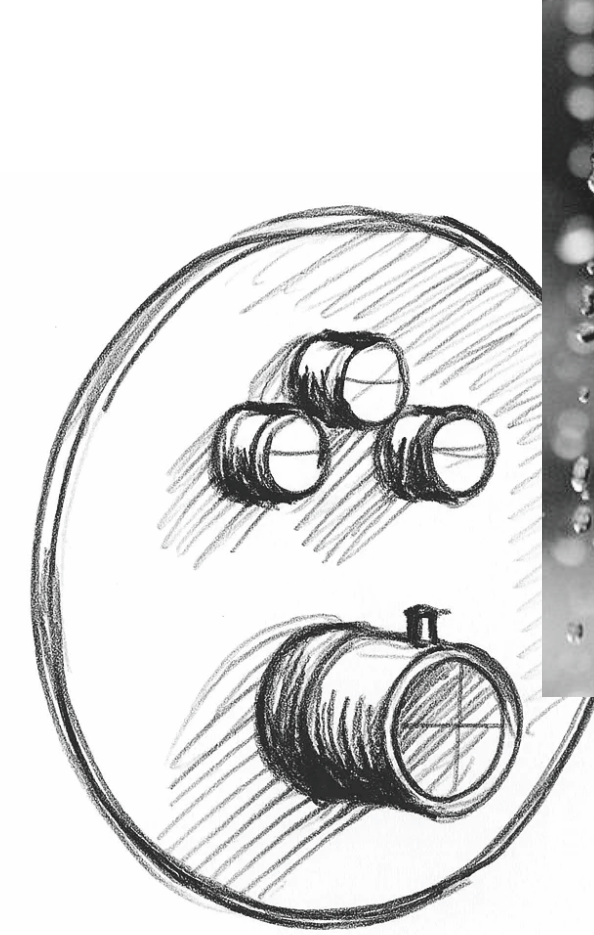

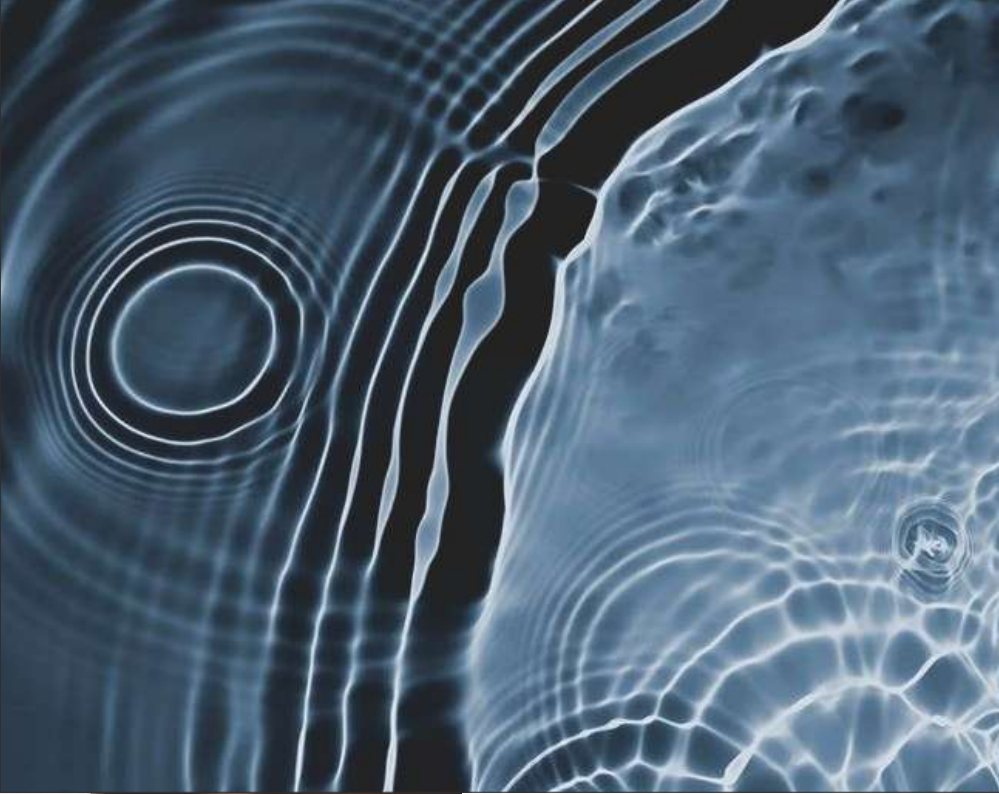

Bathroom Collections

At the heart of the design is the circle—continuous, centered, and directional. From the large overhead disc to the rounded controls, each element holds space with clarity. It's a geometry of intention, grounding the user within a calm, unified volume.

This series draws from the geometry of water in motion—how a single drop expands into a stream, how a stream becomes a cascade. The circular form becomes more than a visual choice; it reflects a natural order of energy, collected and released.

Pure Form.
Composed Flow.

Controls respond with a rhythmic logic—press, release, return. The round buttons evoke the pulse of falling water, while the elongated baseplates stretch that motion horizontally, organizing it with architectural discipline. Touch becomes tempo.

More choice. More creativity.
The Rhum offers a refined palette
of sizes, configurations and finishes, made to harmonize with different spatial moods and materials.
