Care Instruction for furniture real leather

Leather furniture is usually cowhide leather finished with a matt or silk-matt surface dyed. Coarse soiling can be removed very easily with a vacuum cleaner. Impurities in pigmented smooth leather can be removed with a damp, soft cloth, the sooner you remove it, the better for your furniture! If that doesn't work, a commercial leather cleaner can be used.

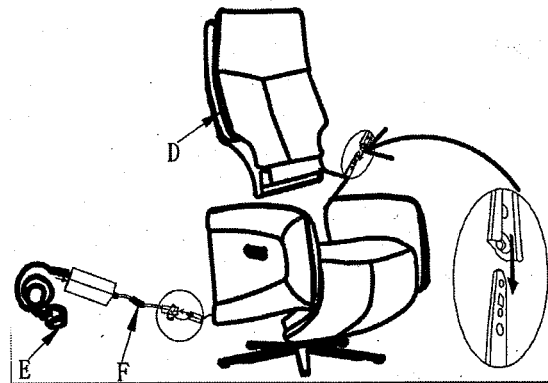

Every 3-4 months the leather furniture should be at first cleaned with a leather cleaner, then it should be treated with a leather care agent. Always apply the leather care agent thinly and let it absorb (please also observe the instructions for use of such a care agent product). To avoid evtl. spoiling/staining/dicolouring of light leather colour by clothing you can treat the furniture in the first 3 years at regular intervals (around 2 to 3 times a year) with a leather sealant. Avoid exposure to sunlight and intense heat.
