Step 1: Use a stud detector to find the studs, or wooden beams behind your ceiling. These are the strongest points of the ceiling to hold up your rack. Drill into where you marked the studs.

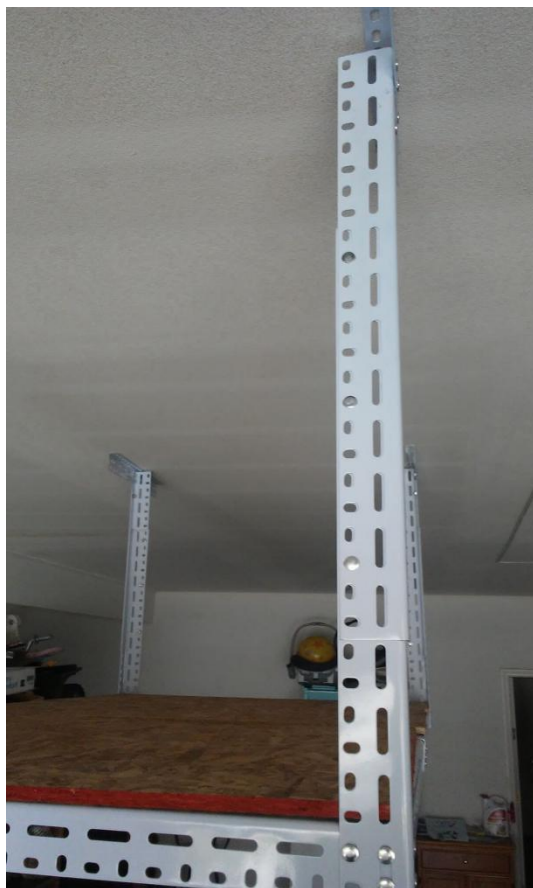

Step 2: Attach the ceiling bars to where you marked the studs. Use a drill to tighten and secure.

step 3: Attach the legs to the ceiling bars

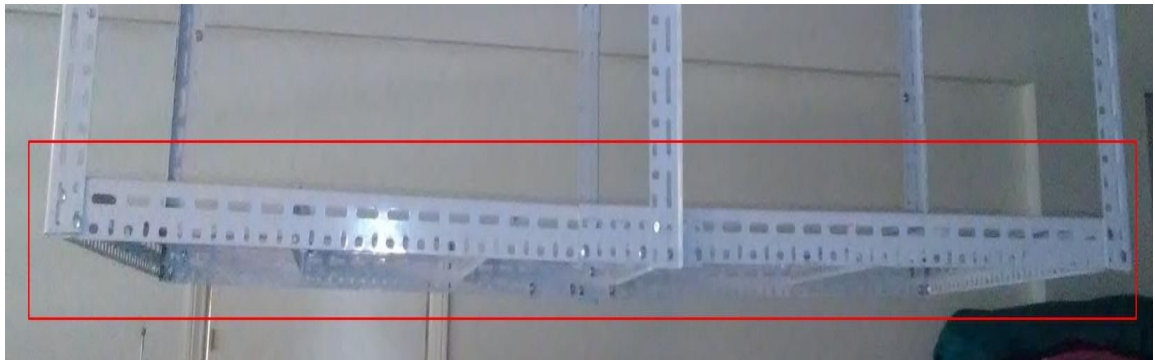

Then, You need measure the how long you want your rack legs to be

You can slide 2 hanging bars and insert two of the included screws to secure your desired length.

Step 4 :Attach the length bars to the hanging bars

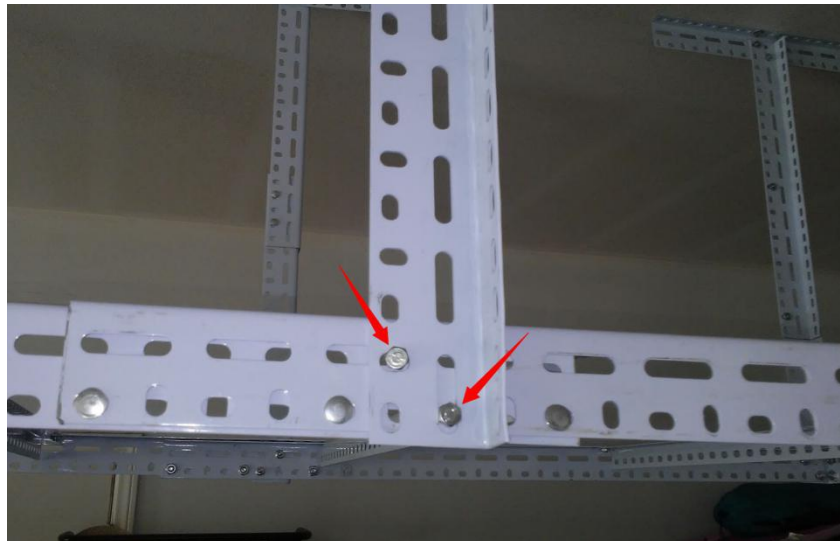

There are 2 bars for the length, slide to adjust the bar to your desired size. Then secure the length of your rack with screws

Step 5: About the installing middle leg

When you are installing the middle hanging bar to the length bar, remember to use the little hexagon shaped screws to tighten up the 2 length bars.

Just like how it's shown in this picture below

Step 6: Use the 48 inch width bar to connect the length bars on each end.

You can complete the width of the rack in this way.

Step 7: Add in the 4 cross bars with equal distance between them.

Step 8: Slide in the wooden boards over your rack to complete the assembly.
