

Amos Wall Clock 625669

Old-world accessories add charm and inspiration to the spaces they grace. This rich, eye-catching analog wall clock is no exception. With its thoughtful design and obvious hints of the past, it's evocative of the style of a bygone era. Elements like warm wood and sturdy materials contribute to its appeal and strength, making it an infallible addition to any bedroom, living room, or office space.

Warm Characteristics: The details make this wooden wall clock a standout from any angle. The hardwood is finished in aged auburn, a deep, versatile, and effortless hue that blends seamlessly into your existing interior design. The contrast comes from the aged off-white dial, which depicts Arabic numerals and a minute track in black, along with charcoal-finished minute and hour hands.

The Finishing Touch: It's a classic timepiece through and through. Much like its historic counterparts, this beautiful clock has a pendulum bob finished in blackened steel. It's suspended from a wooden stick with an aged auburn finish that perfectly complements the exterior. Wood mullions grace the protective glass pane.

Quartz Movement: Westminster quartz battery-operated movement requires 4 AA batteries (not included).
