Textured Walls 2

D2813S56254-4771

Textured Walls 2 recalls the mid-1960s works of Robert Ryman, a celebrated American painter best known for his white-on-white minimalist compositions. In this highly textural painting on canvas, layered paint forms a horizontal banding across the upper portion of the canvas, while a more delicate approach is taken across the remainder of the piece. Textured Walls 2 is a striking composition that displays a mastery of technique and material in a subtle color palette of light grey, linen, and oyster. In the center, a line of grey adds balance to a predominantly linen background. Part of a two-part series and a remarkable addition to the carefully curated ART by TA collection.
