IMPORTANT

I. Safe Usage

1. Stability Check: After installing the fence, must check its stability to ensure all connection points are securely fastened, preventing the fence from collapsing due to pets shaking or pushing it.
2. Avoid Sharp Edges: Although the wire fence edges are treated, be cautious about pets having prolonged contact or chewing on them to prevent accidental scratches.
3. Fence Height Consideration: Ensure the fence is sufficiently high to prevent pets from jumping or climbing over it.

II. Pet Observation

1. Adaptation Period Observation: When using the fence for the first time, pets may need time to adapt. During this period, closely monitor pets' behavior to ensure they do not exhibit abnormal behaviors due to anxiety or unease.
2. Internal Environment: Ensure the fence's interior is clean and comfortable, avoiding placing sharp or fragile items that could harm pets.
3. Regular Cleaning: Regularly clean the fence and its interior to maintain hygiene and reduce bacteria growth.

III. Routine Maintenance

1. Rust Prevention: The wire fence may be affected by rain, humidity, and other natural elements. Regularly apply rust prevention treatments to extend its lifespan.
2. Check Connection Points: Periodically inspect the fence's connection points to ensure fasteners are not loose or damaged, and replace damaged parts promptly.
3. Avoid Direct Sunlight: Prolonged exposure to direct sunlight may cause fence materials to degrade and deform. Place the fence in a shaded and well-ventilated area.

IV. Other Precautions

No Climbing: Do not attempt to climb on or stand on the fence to prevent it from collapsing or creating other safety hazards.

Pet Supervision: Even with the fence installed, supervise pets during their activities to ensure their safety.

Compliant Usage: Use the fence according to the product manual and relevant regulations to avoid safety hazards due to improper use.

In summary, when using product please pay attention to safety, pet observation, routine maintenance, and other related precautions to ensure pets' safety and comfort within the fence.
