

Instruction Manual

If you think the rope cord is too long to use and can check the below step.

1. Disassemble the hanging board.

2. Unscrew the nut inside the ceiling and take out the ceiling.

3. Then unscrew the nut on the black lamp cup, and take out the black lamp cup.

4. Find the small twine and untie it.

5. Violently separate the hemp rope from the buckle, as shown in the picture on the right. The hemp rope is covered with warm glue, and it can be torn apart with a strong point, or cut with a knife, being careful not to cut the wires.

6. Unscrew the wire buckle, move it to the desired length, and then tighten the wire buckle.

7. Arrange the hemp rope to evenly wrap the wires and buckles, then use a small hemp rope to leave the other end a bit longer, and the other end to wrap the hemp rope.

8. Twist the hemp rope tightly, and then tie the knot with the other end. Although this buckle does not have glue, it will not affect the installation and safety of the lamp.

9. Cut off the extra hemp rope (you can also leave 1-2CM, without the black lamp cup, then screw the nut and install it back directly to the ceiling).

10. Put back the black lamp cup and screw the nut.

11. Reinstall the ceiling plate, and then install the chandelier according to the instructions.
