A versatile and charming addition, the Blueridge Bench is crafted from iron and finished in a pristine powder coated white finish. The two-piece design adds flexibility to your seating arrangement, allowing you to position the pieces together for a seamless look or separate them to create additional seating options throughout your space. Perfect for entryways, living rooms, dining areas, or even outdoor spaces, the Blueridge Bench is a timeless and practical choice for your home. Its durable construction and classic design ensure years of enjoyment, making it a staple piece that you'll love for years to come. Designed by Bill Cain.
