Pillars of the Mind 1

D2536S50718-4053

One of the more elaborate architectural styles of classical and neoclassical design, slender fluting and scrolled capitals adorn corinthian columns in Pillars of the Mind 1. Above, a lacunar, or coffered, ceiling offers both decorative and practical use as the recessed spaces simultaneously lighten the weight of the building while also adding visual appeal. Famously noted for its use in Ancient Greek and Roman architecture, this technique was brought back during the Renaissance period.

In Pillars of the Mind 1, the viewer is offered an exquisite view of the classical architecture that was often reserved for spaces of significance. A beautiful addition to the carefully curated ART by TA Collection.
