All Around Is Nothing 4

D2530S50585-4079

All Around Is Nothing 4 is part of a series of six geometric works on paper that call to mind the work of British Op-Art artist Bridget Riley circa the 1960s.

The series features a single geometric circle in varying angles and monochromatic shades. In this work, the axis is tilted, and contrasting graphite and bone white bands form the geometric circle giving it a 3D effect. Here, the background of repetitive vertical graphite bands is more saturated and varied in thickness resulting in a halo effect.

Drawing the viewer's gaze toward the singular spherical object and its surrounding translucent form, All Around is Nothing 4 invites the viewer to engage in a philosophical reflection of the nature of reality and one's place within it. An original addition to the exclusive ART by TA Collection.
