Maintenance

1. Regular cleaning: Clean the crevices regularly with a vacuum cleaner, and wipe local stains lightly with a cloth dipped in a neutral cleaner. Wipe the sofa fabric with a clean, soft damp cloth to keep the surface clean. Avoid using rough or corrosive cleaning products to avoid damaging the fabric. For the parts that are easy to get dirty, you can increase the cleaning frequency appropriately.

2. Avoid exposure to sunlight: Avoid exposing the sofa to sunlight for a long time to prevent the fabric from fading and aging and prolong the service life of the sofa. You can avoid direct sunlight by drawing curtains or adjusting the position of the sofa.

3. Regular replacement: Regularly adjust the position of the sofa or flip the cushions so that all parts of the sofa are evenly stressed to avoid excessive localized wear and tear, especially the parts of the fabric that are in frequent contact with the human body.
