To best preserve this product, please use a protective cover when your furniture is not in use. We would also recommend using a gazebo or parasol over your furniture during the summer period and prolonged sunny spells. This will help prevent harmful UV rays from damaging and discolouring the material.

Timber is a natural product and contains coloured resins which may initially bleed out of the timber when its gets wet. Therefore we recommend that care is taken to protect patios and decking from possible staining where the product comes into contact with the ground. The furniture will stabilise in its environment after the first few times it gets wet.

Wood is a natural material whose appearance will deteriorate when left outside. A surface coating is vital in protect-ing it from premature darkening, or splitting, when exposed to the weather. The finish should be regularly maintained to ensure that the wood is protected from moisture and the furniture continues to look at its best.

This product has been treated with furniture oil during manufacture and the wood requires further treatment before being left out side. When applying furniture oil particular care should be given to the end grain and any joints or crevices, please note that is the products needs to be put together the first coat should be applied to all wood surfaces before assembly.

Should you choose not to treat your furniture, then it will turn a greyish colour and develop cracks. Light sanding can restore the original colour after which furniture oil can be regularly applied in accordance with the instructions above.

A liberal coating of furniture oil should be given to the furniture before it is laid up, and again when it is removed from storage.

Clean your product with a sponge and warm soapy water then wipe with a clean, dry cloth.

Ensure that the product is clean and dry before storage.

Where instructions as to the; storage, commissioning, installation, use and maintenance of the goods or (if there is none) good trade practice are not followed and a defect arises this will void the 12 month manufacturer's guarantee on the product.
